

Formal Case Passage/Description

An Interview Record of Car Paint Workshop System

A client requested to develop an application. The technicality of the application is not yet finalized, but the client is clear on what the bare minimum for the application would be. The main use of the application is to record the data of owner of the car as well as the car in or going in to the workshop. The main reason is to contact the owner of the car whenever their car is finished painting. Notes given by the client are to record the data of the type of paint and material. (e. g. metallic gray, black, etc.)

The client would also like to know whether or not their customer want to varnish their car. This would be one of the reason the client requested to record the data. The client would also like to calculate the expenses base on the kind of treatment the customer would want. The client requested this feature to give certainty to themselves and their customer.
